

Welcome to iBS

Dear reader, to you who already know us, or perhaps visit for the first time, we would like to give you the warmest welcome.

Our teaching is oriented to professionals who work in L/GL hotels (Luxury and Grand Luxury), in large properties and in private or charter luxury yachts, both nationally and abroad. The objective of our training is to provide our students with the attributes, abilities and competencies necessary to effectively perform their job, not only independently, but also leading high performance teams, with standards of excellence and anywhere in the world.

After years of training expert butlers, who perform their functions successfully and discreetly in prestigious properties throughout Latin America, we have designed a specialized course in line with the unstoppable rise in the luxury nautical industry. With great care and dedication, we have developed the course "Expert in Stewardship and Interior Management of Luxury Yachts" that combines the characteristics of service in luxury hotels with the specific ways of providing attention and hospitality in recreational luxury yachts.

Our goal is to train professionals for the luxury nautical industry, where they will be expected to have the qualities, knowledge and skills demanded by people of high purchasing power. In addition, they must be distinguished and differentiated by their special personal and professional disposition to successfully undertake any function of direct personal assistance in luxury environments.

In iBS we have professionals who stand out for their exquisite training and have the necessary attitude that luxury and outstanding service require. An adequate balance of background and manners is a requirement for our students and the flag that distinguishes us. All our activities are carried out with the highest standards of quality and assurance of success.

To guarantee a refined service to our clients, we carry out a rigorous selection of students and only provide them with the most outstanding professional profiles. We help those who are in line with our values to find positions that match their professional qualifications.

We are consultants and we know how to do our work well. The basis of our business philosophy is absolute excellence and discretion to ensure the full satisfaction of our customers.

If you want to acquire superb training based on excellence and be trained in an increasingly demanding and highly remunerated profession, ask for information about our courses.

If you need advice, we have at your disposal a complete and professional panel of experts.

In any case, welcome to iBS where excellence is the everyday.

Juan de Dios Orozco López
CEO